Why College Essays?

Teaching is our first love. We both started out in education and have stuck with it for nearly a decade. From Title I inner-city high school classrooms to the esteemed private school where we both now teach, we have helped every level of student write college essays to get into their dream schools.

College essays are also the first chance you get on your application to show a board of professionals who you really are. Thus, your essay must sound like you, feel like you, and reflect a vision of what you can add to their esteemed campus.

Each essay we have assisted students in creating is unique in tone, tale, and truth. It's a blend of finding what your story is and telling it in a way that makes college application boards remember their 650 words with you.

“Your college essay is the first chance you get on your application to show a board of professionals who you really are. Thus, your essay must sound like you, feel like you, and reflect a vision of what you can add to their esteemed campus.”

Why Work with Us

The fact that we are currently in secondary education means we have a thumb on the active pulse of college applications and essay trends. We work side-by-side with colleagues every day who have unique connections and abilities, and we are constantly attending and researching best practices for students on AP exams, SATs, ACTs, and college applications.

We have been working with Common App for a decade, keeping a close eye on any and all changes. Beyond that, we each work with hundreds of students every year on a personal level. We know how to connect with students to draw out their best attributes. We do it every day. It's not just a job; it's our passion.

Check out our testimonial section to see what these students have to say.
